LOGAN, CACHE COUNTY, UTAH, TUESDAY FEBRUARY 4 1913

TENTH YEAR

Governor's Day at Farmers Round-up

Logan, Feb. 1.—Was Governor's day at the Farmers Roundup and Housekeepers conference and as the chief executive of the state was on the program many attended from the country, swelling the crowd to a size larger than on any day since the beginning of the lectures and since the farmers school opened.

Governor Spry arrived at noon on the special train run from Salt Lake by the Utah Power & Light company on which about two hundred and seventy-five of the Utah Electric club and guests came to the U. A. C. to see the electrical display. This display has been placed at the college at an expense of $2500, in which is shown many of the modern appliances in electricity for household and farm.

Governor Gives Talk

The principal talk at the college came immediately after luncheon, which was served to the visitors at the Smart gymnasium. Governor Spry discussed the state's interest in the Utah grower and urged closer co-operation on the part of the farmer and the state.

"The state," said the governor, "is doing all it can to assist the people in manufacturing proper kind of produce for the market. For instance, the dairies are being placed on a higher plane by being required to meet certain sanitary conditions. This creates a demand for the Utah manufactured butter, condensed milk, cheese, etc., just so with other lines."

He commended the new state organization recently formed for finding a market for the fruit crop of the state.

"The best thing in the world for Utah," said the governor, "would be at least one co-operative association of growers and two or three if necessary to boost the products of the state."

Farmers Should Specialize

The governor went special after the Utah farmer for trying to be a "jack-of-all-trades," as he expressed it. "Don't try to be a stockman, a sheepman, a dairyman, an irrigationist and a dry farmer all at the same time," he said. Go into one field of work and keep at it consistently. The salvation of the farmer of Utah lies in his quitting extraneous lines and concentrating on one line. If he desires to be a dry farmer, let him follow dry farming; if he would irrigate, let him farm by that method. The trouble with the Utah farmer is that he has tried to do too many different things."

Governor Spry's address followed that of J. Arthur Reid, California fruit expert, who has organized two fruit growers' associations and who came to Utah to take part in the movement toward the organizing of a Utah fruit growers' association.

The Utah Electric club special left Salt Lake at 8:50 o'clock over the Oregon Short Line with 225 aboard. Twenty-five were added to the party at Ogden and twenty-five more points.

G. N. CURTIS HIGHLY HONORED

Is Made President of Senior Class At Northwestern Medical College

Chicago, Jan. 31.—G. Nathaniel Curtis of Logan was recently elected president of the senior class in Northwestern Medical College. Mr. Curtis represented the nonfraternity men, and his election was practically among the fraternities being such that they were unable to unite on a fraternity man for the position.

Mr. Curtis will be remembered in Logan as one of the most popular of students at the B. Y. C. for a number of years. While here he was prominent in all musical work of the institution, being connected with the orchestra, choir and band as well as with the opera work of the school. His many local friends will naturally take no little pleasure to learn of the recognition he has received from the graduating class of one of the largest medical schools in the country.

ed as the special progressed toward Logan. The Utah Power & Light company's end of the train was in charge of C. Walker Jones, manager of the business department of the company and the Electric club committee in charge was made up of John C. Jones, H. T. Plum, D. G. Bolton, R. J. Dinwoodey and L. Brandenberger.

The college band met the excursionists at the station. Headed by the governor and fifty or so Utah legislators who made the trip, the party, ten abreast, marched to the Eagle hotel, where cars were taken for the college.

COMMISSIONERS RELEASE HILL

Man Fined For Assault Was Given Freedom by County Officials After Week in County Jail

Alexander Hill of Wellsville, who was fined $125 or 125 days by Judge William Brangham, one week ago Saturday, having been found guilty of assault and battery, was released from custody on Saturday by the county commissioners. Mr. Hill's release came about by the request of Peter Maughan and others from the south end of the county. They put up with the plea that Mr. Hill who is fifty-two years old and a man with a family of twelve children, has always been considered one of the most desirable citizens of his community. When fined by the judge, Mr. Hill was not in a financial condition to pay the fine. He therefore took a berth in the county jail, not knowing when he entered the jail that he would gain his release until the expiration of the 125 days or on Decoration day.

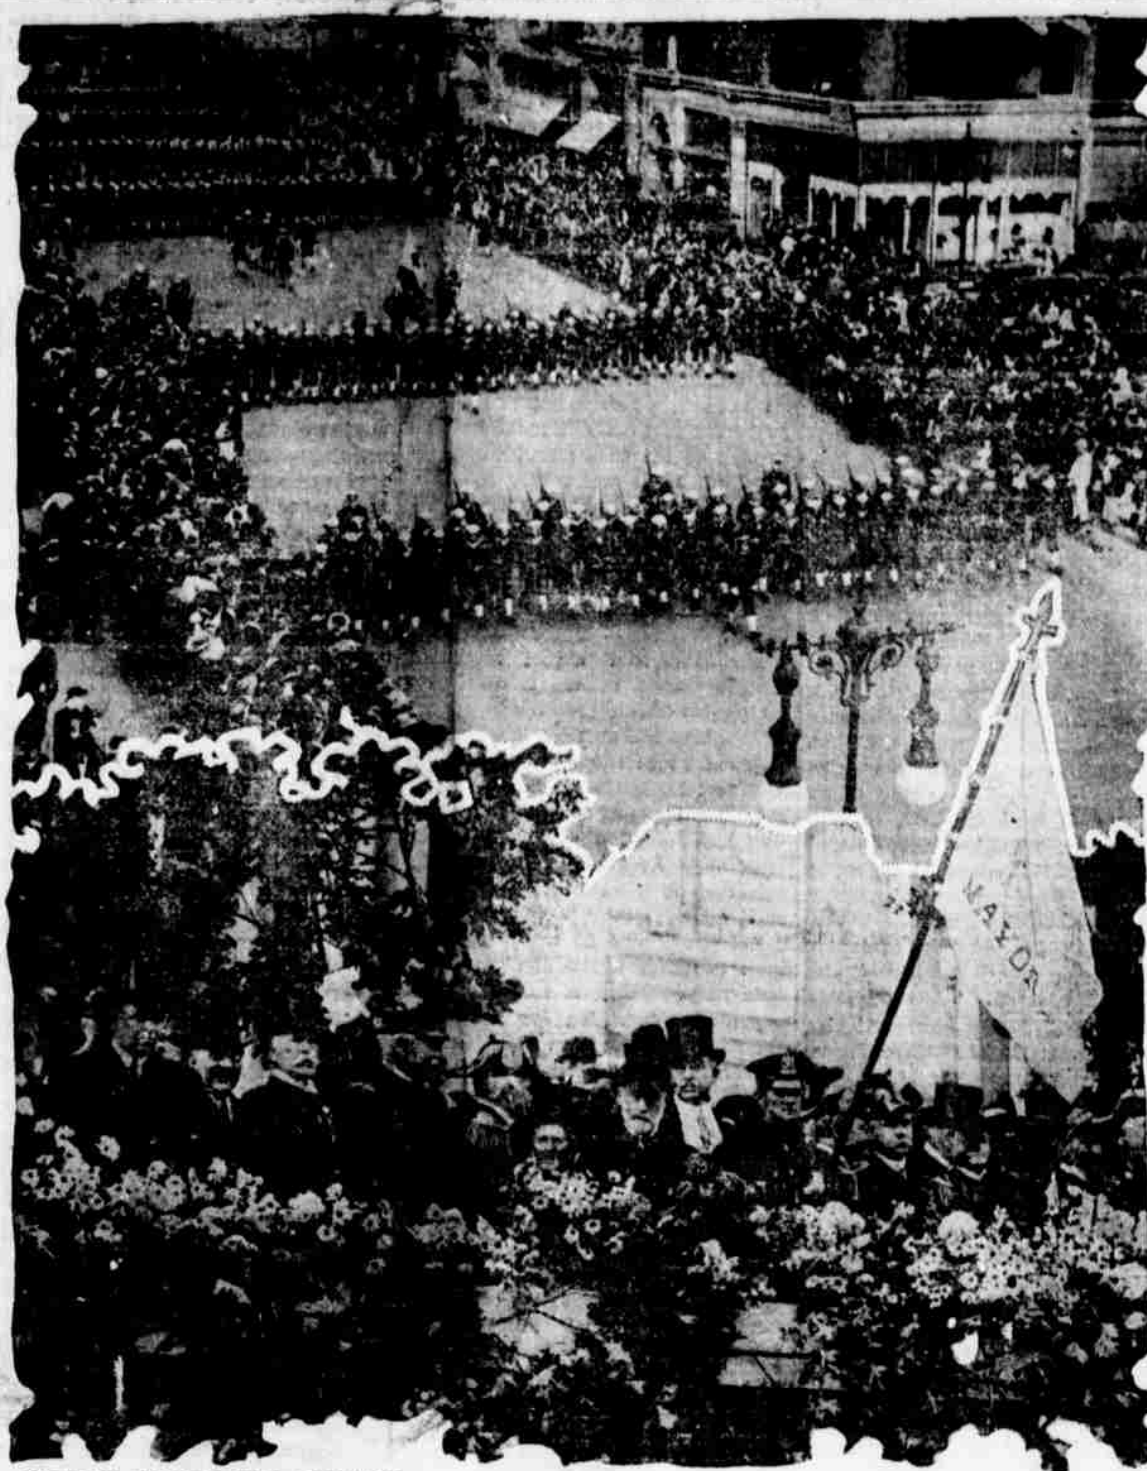

Mr. Hill was arrested upon the representations of Samuel South who was logging in the vicinity of the Hill saw mill in Blacksmith Fork canyon, and became mixed in a fist fight at the mill early in the month of January. From the representations of the owner of the mill, the quarrel or fracas was brought on by Mr. South. South contended that Hill was dishonest and when his remarks became over bearing to the latter, a fight ensued and South was worsted. As is usual in such cases, the whipped man wanted revenge and resorted to the courts. From the representations made by the good citizens in the south end of the county, the commissioners are to be congratulated upon their wise course in relieving from custody Mr. Hill and permit him to again go to his work of furnishing food and clothing for his large family. It is to be regretted that it was necessary that he should go to jail for defending his good name, for honest dealing, especially on his own premises, where another had come to do business with him.

At the Saturday session the commissioners appointed Joseph Webb as gatherer of agricultural statistics, in the place of Andrew Morrison, who was unable to act. Mr. Webb's district is Richmond, Cove and Mt. Home.

HOWARD LOVELAND LAID TO REST

Funeral services were held yesterday at the residence of Mrs. Jennie Jacobsen over the remains of Howard the three and a half year old son of Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Loveland of the Sixth ward, who died Friday from a brief illness of measles. The speakers were Arent Johnson, John Thorp, Prof. Henry Otte, Bishop O. F. Rice, Noah Larsen, Olaf I. Pederson, and Oliver Skanchy.

The Logan Arms and Sporting Goods company, formerly located next door of the Mitchell Barber shop on Main street, has moved to North Main, the quarters just vacated by the law firm of Nebeker, Bowen & Taatcher.

The parade of sailors of the Atlantic fleet down Fifth avenue during the stay of the battleships in New York harbor was witnessed by upward of half a million persons. On the reviewing stand in front of the Public library at Forty-second street were many notables. Mayor Gaynor is easily distinguishable in the lower photograph near the center. At his right hand is Rear Admiral Osterhaus, while at the latter's right hand is Major General Harry, commander of the department of the east.

B. Y. C. LOSES TO THE B. Y. U.

The Provo Quintet Defeated the Local Boys by the Score of 40 to 29 in Good Game

The Brigham Young University basketball team defeated the Brigham Young College at Provo Saturday in a fast and exciting game by the score of 40 to 29. The B. Y. C. team played a hard game and the passing of Coach Jensen's men was exceptionally good. The Logan boys fought hard all the time and the playing of Peterson at center was the most spectacular of the evening. Barron's free throwing was also good.

The team work of the B. Y. U. players was the best that has been seen on the local floor, and the Provo fans have predicted another championship for their team. The

MANY ARTISTS AT EXPOSITION

San Francisco, Feb. 3.—Famous artists will be brought from London and Paris to install "The Battle of Gettysburg" one of the most realistic battle cycloramas ever painted, which is to be one of the features of the concession section of the 1915 International exposition.

Director of Concessions Frank Burt states that this wonderful replica of the greatest battle of the Civil War was painted by Paul Philippoteaux, a celebrated French painter, and is owned by Emmett W. McConnell, known as "The Panorama King" and who has been awarded the right to show "Creation" and the "Evolution of the Dreadnaught" at the coming World's Fair.

The canvas is 400 feet in circumference and 50 feet high, and covers an area of 20,000 square feet. It will be installed in a coliseum 125x150 feet and 65 feet high. Philippoteaux and sixteen artists worked for two years on this great painting.

B. Y. U. took the lead from the start and held it throughout, although the B. Y. C. boys pushed them hard at the end of the first half.

Coach Jensen was very much pleased with the showing his men made and will have the B. Y. C. team working like one big machine when he plays the University of Utah and the B. Y. U. at Logan. He feels confident that he will win the game with the University boys here, and has little doubt of carrying away the honors from the B. Y. U.

The first of the intercollegiate game of the season to be played in Logan will be next Saturday evening when the B. Y. C. team meets the U. A. C. team at the Smart gymnasium.

The teams lined up as follows:

B. Y. U.	B. Y. C.
Weight	Tolman
Greenwood	Hill
Richards	Peterson
Halvorsen	Wright
Taylor	Barron
Referee—Wainsguard. Umpire—Jacobs.

Impressive funeral services over the remains of Mr. James Henderson who died last Thursday following a lingering illness, were held Sunday at Arimo, Idaho, the house being packed to its fullest capacity with relatives and friends of deceased, from a number of different towns. The esteem in which he was held was made manifest by the profuse and beautiful floral offerings sent from different cities. Consoling remarks were made by the following brethren: Alex Brunett, and Mr. Cohn, Mr. Valentine of Pocatello; Anthony Anderson of Logan, Mr. Scowcroft of Weber stake Academy, Brother Pond of the Pocatello stake Resolutions of sympathy and letters were read from the board and student body of the Weber Stake Academy of which Mr. W. W. Henderson is president. Special music was furnished by the choir and solos by Benson Parkinson, E. N. Stone and Mrs. Kate Wakley.

INAUGURAL BALL AT HOTEL UTAH

Representative Cardon Has Issued Several Invitations To Local Friends

Representative Joseph E. Cardon, has issued a number of local invitations to attend the Fifth State Inaugural Ball given in honor of His Excellency, William Spry, governor of Utah, Wednesday evening, February 12, at Hotel Utah. There will undoubtedly be a number of local guests at the reception and ball, which is considered one of the finest social events to be pulled off in the state.

The district court was busy yesterday settling cases for the February term of court. Through a mistake the trial jurors drawn for the February term were summoned to appear yesterday.

TO PERMIT BETTING AT ALL RACE TRACKS

Bill Introduced in House Would Legalize Wagers on Horses

House bill No. 68, prepared by the race track interests of Utah and introduced at their request last Friday by M. H. Kribel of Salt Lake, was presented and referred to the committee on judiciary, which has been considering house bill 34 for the last two weeks. The new bill designed to legalize betting at race tracks, is similar to the bill which proposes to prohibit book making and pool rooms, excepting that it permits betting "if conducted at the time and place where the contests of skill and endurance take place." The new bill, however, makes it a misdemeanor for woman and children to speculate on races.

D. H. Morris of St. George again succeeded in deferring action on the committee and he will urge the substitution of the bill permitting betting at the tracks.

TURN WATER IN THE STATE DAM

With Completion of Concrete Structure and Installation of Machinery Gates Are Closed

It was impossible to get information from the proper authority, as to the varacity of the statement that the gates in the state dam were shut down yesterday and water turned through the wheels of the electrical machinery just installed, although it was rumored on the street that such was the case. It could not be learned whether or not this fact was performed with any of the state officials in attendance, or if the large gates were closed and the water cut off its natural channel and forced to remain stored behind the concrete structure with simply a few invited guests in attendance.

JOHN T. CARLILE DENIES RUMOR

Says He is a Mormon, Friends Are Mormons and That He is Buying Lands in Mormon Community

It has been rumored here that John T. Carlisle of Smithfield, while in Canada recently gave out an interview to one of the papers antagonistic to the Mormons, Mr. Carlisle feels somewhat keenly this rumor and says it is a misrepresentation of facts. He said yesterday to a representative of this paper: "There is a big mistake somewhere as I am a Mormon myself, all my friends are Mormons, and I'm buying land in a Mormon community in Alberta, Canada." He handed us the following interview clipped from the Calgary News Telegram with the request that we publish it, in order that he might be set right with his friends:

Even from the state of Utah which Brigham Young's followers have reclaimed from a desert and made to "blossom as the rose" will come the annual American exodus to Western Canada this year, according to John T. Carlisle of Salt Lake City, Utah. Mr. Carlisle returned to Salt Lake after a three days visit to Calgary. He came here to consult with the C. P. R. lands department on the location and the securing of a ranch in Southern Alberta. He is a prominent rancher in Utah. "Settlers will flock to Canada from the States in thousands next spring," stated Mr. Carlisle. "Wholesale immigrations will take place from every state in the north, especially from Minnesota, North Dakota and Montana. The people of Utah have always been loath to leave that state but they will come to this country by the hundreds and possibly thousands."

CHEMISTRY FOR BUSINESS MEN

The laundymen of Logan have arranged for a short practical course in chemistry at the Agricultural College. They want to know all about the chemical and physical properties of water, soap, borax, lye, bleach ing powder and starch. They are interested in the composition and chemical nature of gasoline, naphtha, and all other chemicals used in their business.

An elementary course in general chemistry must be taken before these special topics can be properly explained and the laundymen have set out in earnest to master the underlying principles.

The class meets every Friday evening at 7:30 in the Woman's building. The course is given by Prof. C. W. Porter and according to all reports he is making it thoroughly worth while. Business men in other fields may be interested in these lectures. All are welcome but those only who register and pay the fee of $2.50 can take part in the discussion.
